

Around the world in 80 minutes

TeamWorld

A great onboarding activity .....

Everyone knows the fantastic tale of the eccentric Phileas Fogg's attempt to go around the world in 80 days. You and your team must do that as well - just in 80 minutes!

Departing from London, small tasks must be completed correctly, before the boarding pass is available. Now the wild hunt around the world begins. By solving virtual and physical tasks, which team will come the furthest around the earth in 80 minutes?

The various tasks in the different countries of the world, reflect several skills and competencies and are themed to the countries, the team chooses along the way.

Everyone can follow their own and others' progress on the digital world map.

With the option to get company assignments included in the game that reflect your departments around the world, we can also include greetings from your international colleagues on the screen, while the countries are being visited.

Let's talk about options - Call for more inspiration.
